Hookers, 'johns' may be target of unique program

■ Police plan multi-pronged attack on prostitution, including an effort to frighten "johns" into finding another hobby

By Steve Marschke

West Sacramento police are nearing the beginning of a new and different approach to combating prostitution within city limits, with an effort borrowing tactics from its "Sobriety Checkpoint" practices.

"We have some great big signs that say, 'prostitution decoy operation in progress,' " said Lt. Russ Thomas of the city police department. "We're going to have it up when we do prostitution sweeps. We may even have it up sometimes when we don't. The point is, the 'johns' (customers) won't know which of the women on the streets are prostitutes and which are our decoys."

For those men picked up soliciting sex for money, embarassment may follow them home.

"We're going to mail material on communicable diseases to people caught. If we see people pulling over to talk to prostitutes, we will send material to their homes."

Another police official suggested several weeks ago that the department may even seek to publish the names and pictures of customers who are arrested.

Thomas explained that he hopes the publicity from the effort will act as a deterrent to potential customers of West Sacramento's streetwalkers, much the same way it is believed that the publicity of the sobriety checkpoints (which very visibly worked to screen out and arrest drunk drivers) helped to cut down on drinking and driving.

"We're trying to change some social values and levels of tolerance," he said.

The lieutenant added that much the same thing has already happened with society's view of drunk driving, which is no longer merely winked at, but, thanks to the efforts of activists and law enforcement, now carries a serious social stigma.

Thomas said that one of the reasons the department is targeting prostition -- which has received a large amount of recent public attention -- is that "prostitution is not a victimless crime anymore."

"You can pick up AIDS, you can go home and give a loved one AIDS, you can pass it on to your child through a transfusion or something. And there are other communicable diseases. We're going to try to educate the 'johns.' "

Thomas repeated an assertion made by Police Chief Larry Gore and others, that the prostitutes themselves were often trapped in drug habits and turned "tricks" to make money for their next drug fix. To solve the prostitution program, therefore, you have to address the addiction of the "hookers."

"The prostitutes themselves are victims of their own trade. The majority have no interest in the sex they are giving or getting. They're just interested in the money so they can get the drugs."

Chief Gore, said Thomas, is working on a "diversion" program designed to include drug rehabilitation and perhaps even job training for prostitutes arrested in West Sacramento.

"This program is really multfaceted and we're gearing up to sustain it for a long time," he said.

Special envoy from South Africa

Provincial official visits elementary school class at Westfield

A group writing project by the students of room 9, Westmore Oaks Elemeniary School:

Mrs. Wingfield's third and fourth grade class at Westmore Oaks had a visitor from South Africa on Wednesday, October 4. His name is Gilbert Mosena and he is an important government official in the Northern Province of South Africa. He came to California to talk to Governor Wilson and others about doing business together. Until recently, the U.S. wouldn't buy or sell with his country because of apartheid. Our dictionaries tell us that apartheid means the governmental policy of segregation, and social, economic, and educational discrimination in the Republic of South Africa.

Now his government has stopped apartheid and they are sending people like Gilbert to tell everyone that South Africa wants to trade in all the world's markets. In his travels, Mr. Mosena has already met more than 30 presidents.

He came to our class because he wanted to see some California students at work in school. Our class was chosen because Mrs. Wingfield learned about his wish and invited him to come.

We enjoyed having him with us and he taught us a lot of interesting things. For instance, it took him 38 hours and four planes to get here. We also learned that there is a nine-hour time difference between California and South Africa, and that California and South Africa have about the same population. He told us that the people there have schools like ours and enjoy the same sports and entertainment as we do, except that they don't play tetherball. We plan to send him our school tetherball rules, so he can teach his friends to play.

Members of Mrs. Wingfield's class listen to special visitor Gilbert Mosena

We learned that many things are different in South Africa. To start with, people drive on the opposite sides of their cars and their roads. Also, they have jungles and their wild animals are different. For example, they have Tasmanian Devils, gorillas, wild pigs, hippos, elephants, snakes we don't have here, and other dangerous animals.

Gilbert taught us other interesting things about his country. For example, there are two separate countries inside the borders of South Africa. Also, that the cold Atlantic Ocean meets the warm Indian Ocean south of Capetown and that causes some very strong and dangerous currents in that area.

Another interesting thing is parents give their children African names that are really the names for feelings. Gilbert's African name is Tabo, which means pleasure because his parents were so pleased at his birth. His sisters' African names mean hope and love. His wife's name means constance.

He was a very nice and unique man. We will write letters to thank him for visiting and hope he will write back to us.

We won't every forget Tabo's visit, because he joined us for our class picture.

Port director 'stunned' at Sacramento proposal to opt out

By David Weller

The city of Sacramento's Economic Development Department has recommended to the Sacramento City Council that shift responsibility for the Port of Sacramento to the city of West Sacramento.

The Sacramento City Council will not be scheduled to vote on its future involvement in the port until next year.

The reason for the reorganization recommendation, according to a report presented by the Sacramento Economic Development Department to the City Council, is that, "the city of Sacramento and its business community receives little economic value from the port--whereas the port is located in the city of West Sacramento and the impact of future operations will create direct impacts on the residents of West Sacramento."

The report, signed by Economic Development Manager Bili Farley, also says that the port plays a minor role in the transportation network for the Sacramento area. "As indicated in the survey of the region's manufacturers, services of the port were ranked last among 33 factors. Virtually every company in Sacramento that use the services of a port, uses the Port of Oakland."

"I'm stunned by the city of Sacramento's position on the matter," said Port Director John Sulpizio. "The port is a shining example historically of regional development."

Sulpizio, who has been looking to the port's four governing bodies for $10 million needed for deepening the channel, refers to the fact that the Sacramento region has been trying to increase its role in the international business community as a reason to invest in the port's future.

He has also cited independant studies commissioned by the port in 1993 and 1994 which concluded that deepening the channel could increase the port's revenues by as much as 70 per cent.

The port is owned by the city of Sacramento, the city of West Sacramento, the county of Sacramento, and the county of Yolo. It is governed by a commission of representatives appointed by the city councils and boards of supervisors of each of those entities.

In recent months the governing bodies have shown an increased interest in port activities, appointing elected officials to the commission instead of private citizens. Supervisor Mike McGowan of Yolo County and Supervisor David Cox of Sacramento County were both appointed to the port commission earlier this year.

Following that pattern, Sacramento City Councilman Robbie Waters joined the commission six weeks ago.

Frustrated by the cool response he has received from the public sector owners of the port, Sulpizio has begun to look for investors in the private sector.

Intimating that private investment could lead to privatization of ownership, Sulpizio said that "it could mean a reformation in what we know as the port," depending on what kind of private sector commitments he can find, and on how much control investors might require.

"This is a good business. We have good clients and opportunities to expand. What we need is capitalization. We need an investment strategy," Sulpizio said.

City planning commission to review trucking industry's concerns

By David Weller

The city's General Plan provisions under attack by the trucking industry and scheduled for planning commission review tomorrow night include a requirement that anybody expanding or building new truck terminals obtain a conditional use permit from the city.

The industry is also looking to change zoning ordinances so that terminals will be permitted in heavy industrial and waterfront commercial zones.

Four and a half years after the city adopted a general plan which encouraged moving truck terminals to a limited space west of I-80, and envisioned the development of a major trucking center outside of the city, the industry is now finding

Dead woman identified

A woman found dead in a West Sacramento motel last week has been identified as Patricia Elain Van Fleet, 49, of Sacramento.

Detective Jim Duncan of the West Sacramento Police Dept. said a cause of death has still not been determined for the woman, and possible companions are still being sought for questioning.

The death was discovered Oct. 2 at the Golden Inn on West Capitol Ave.

Two perspectives on the black experience in America

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

Monday before last, a predominately black jury, after about three hours of deliberation, came to the unanimous conclusion that O.J. Simpson was not guilty in what many people are calling the murder trial of the century. Their much anticipated decision was announced around ten o'clock the next morning and I turned on a television set in my classroom so my students could witness a little history in the making. After the verdict was read by the court clerk, and after Mr. Simpson and his lawyers jubilant responses had been recorded for posterity, the television coverage turned its attention to the crowds which had been nervously awaiting the decision outside the courthouse. With the use of videotape, the mostly black gathering was seen jumping up and down, cheering wildly -- the kind of celebrating and cheering one might see at a hard-fought football game after the home team had finally pushed across the winning touchdown -- the kind of cheering and celebrating I'm sure Mr. Simpson has witnessed many times in his charmed life.

As I sat there watching exhilarated believers in Mr. Simpson's innocence explain to reporters that the deaths of Ron Goldman and Nicole Brown had actually been part of a drug deal gone bad, or that the whole thing had been a mafia hit, or that O.J. could have never done it because the gloves didn't fit, I found myself thinking that there just had to be another explanation for so many apparently sane and rational people (and I'm including the jury here) to conveniently ignore the real evidence in the case, including the fact that the man's blood was all over the crime scene.

As much as I was disturbed by the way so many people seemed to be lovingly embracing a man who, at the very least, is a wife-batterer, I reminded myself that blacks have been running into the Mark Fuhrman's of this world all their lives, and their experiences with the criminal justice system is dramatically different from mine. I also reminded myself that much like it is throughout the world, racism is alive and well in America, and that all the cheering and celebrating probably had as much to do with decades of lynch law and all white juries liberally sprinkled with Ku-Klux Klan members as it did with the guilt or innocence of O.J. Simpson.

Someone once explained racism to me like this: "Unfortunately, it's part of our cultural heritage. We keep passing it along from one generation to the next. But thankfully, it can be out-learned. All we need to do is take the time to get to know one good and loving member of the race which frightens us. If everyone did that, the underpinnings of racism -- fear and ignorance -- would disappear."

With that in mind, I come to the real subject of this column -- Hattie Mary Shorter Gordon.

As some of you may recall, last winter I wrote a column about a sweet elderly black lady who had befriended me on a ride home from our doctor's office. I mentioned that Mary (she preferred Mary over Hattie) had been born in a little town called Eugula, Alabama (near Montgomery) and that life for a young black girl growing up in the deep south back in the 1920's and 1930's had not been easy. She told me how her father had sat her down before her tenth birthday and explained that black people were treated very differently than white people, and for her own safety, there were things she should never do and places she should never go. He also reminded her that if she ever had reason to go to a white person's house, she always had to use the back door. Not wanting to worry her father, Mary spent most of her formative years attending church activities (her large family produced a number of deacons, ministers and missionaries) and playing with friends of her own race. "I do wish the whites and the blacks could have gotten along better back then," she once told me, "but I guess it was just one of those things. It's really too bad, because we're all God's children, you know."

For the past year, Mary and I have visited regularly and Friday before last I talked to her at length on the phone. She said she was feeling "a little poorly", but not to worry -- she was going to see her doctor early the next week.

Three days later, I got a call early in the morning from Mary's grand-daughter, Christine, tearfully informing me that Mary had suffered a very bad stroke and wasn't expected to live through the day. Being the extremely thoughtful person Mary always was, she waited patiently until all of her loved ones could get to the hospital before she peacefully passed away.

As I listened to her daughter and grand-daughters recall key moments in Mary's long and eventful life -- like how she had always considered all work honorable and was proud of the many years she spent toiling as a domestic servant -- and how she had been determined to raise her children and grandchildren to respect and fear God -- and how she always treated others with kindness and good manners -- and how she had the quiet courage to face up to anything, including the death of two young sons in an outbreak of diphtheria -- and how she was afraid of absolutely nothing, including death, because her faith in her Lord and Savior was as strong as she was, I couldn't help but think of how much richer we would all be, and how much more knowledge and understanding we would have of the black experience in America, if we could have only spent the past year and three months learning about the life and times of wonderful human beings like Hattie Mary Shorter Gordon, instead of the trial and tribulations of Orenthal James Simpson.

You may be arrested Nov. 7 -- as part of March of Dimes fundraiser

From the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation

When is going to jail not only fun, but worthwhile? When its to help raise money to save lives of unborn and newborn babies.

The West Sacramento Jail & Bail, a benefit for the March of Dimes, will be held November 7, 8, and 9 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Area residents will have their friends and business associates "arrested" for such heinous crimes as daydreaming, playing too much golf, and the like.

Arresting "officers" will escort the suspects to the "jail" at 829 Jefferson Blvd. (near Jefferson and Merkley), where they will be found guilty. The inmates will then spend about an hour raising their "bail" in the form of tax deductible pledges to the March of Dimes.

More than 89 percent of the $5,000 the Jail & Bail is expected to raise will be used to prevent and cure birth defects in the form of medical research and education. Each year, over 250,000 babies are born with birth defects in the United States. The March of Dimes is the only national and non-profit health organization dedicated to preventing those tragedies.

RC football shut out by Bear River

By Khaled Dastagirzada

In Friday's game against the Bear River Bruins (1-3), the River City Raiders (3-1) experienced the closest feeling they could get to being in a championship game, losing to the opposing team by a score of 28 to 0. Bear River had defeated Golden Sierra the previous week with a score of 24 to 14; the Bruins were favored over the Raiders by a score of 27-7.

River City started off the game flamboyantly. Jimmy Timas found a hole for 13 yards, followed by a 10-yard run by Josh Castro. Following that, Timas took it straight up the middle, carrying the defense on his back for another 15 yards. But then the Raiders were held to a 4th and 6 situation, in which they failed to convert. The Raiders' defense stepped up and made that extra effort, which is the reason that the first quarter ended in a 0-0 tie.

In the second quarter, Bear River's offense broke down River City's defense, when their running back scored on a 1-yard touchdown run. River City put on another marvelous drive, led by Jimmy Timas and Josh Castro. Castro carried the ball for 11 yards, and again he broke loose for another 11 yards. Timas, who did a great job on their first drive, resuscitated the Raiders with a 10-yard run for another Raider first down. Castro added on 12 more yards, but the Raiders were stopped on 4th down, in a similar fashion, as they were in the first quarter. Bear River was stopped on their next drive when R.C.'s Brian Kinney sacked the Bruins' quarterback. On Bear River's following drive, their running back scored on a 65-yard touchdown pass. The two-point conversion succeeded, putting Bear River ahead, 14 to 0. After that play, it seemed as if River City had quailed. The first half ended in a 14-0 Bear River lead.

In the third quarter, a holding, followed by an illegal procedure penalty, forced Bear River to punt. On River City's first drive of the second half, Castro fumbled and the Bruins recovered. A 25-yard pass interference call on the Raiders set up a 4-yard touchdown reception by Bear River's #27. That play plunged the dagger into River City's heart, with Bear River leading 21 to 0. River City had now hit rock bottom. The quarterback, Gary Herren, threw an interception to #44 on Bear River. On R.C.'s next drive, Herren threw a pass that bounced off of Castro's hands and landed into the hands of a waiting Bruin.

That led to a 1-yard touchdown run by #30, and the Bruins now led 28 to 0. The Raiders were stopped again, which set up a field goal for the Bruins. That field goal was blocked by Angel Cardenas, who had missed the previous two games due to torn ligaments in his ankle. On the Raiders' last drive of the game, Herren was picked off again by the Bruins.

"I guess the papers know you guys better than I do," said Coach Massey, reflecting on the newspaper which printed a 27-7 score in favor of Bear River. The Raiders dropped to a record of 3-2, but they are still very much alive for the playoffs.

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The major league playoffs continue this week as the Braves and the Reds square off for the National title, and the Indians take on the "Refuse to Lose" Seattle Mariners.

The Mariners beat New York with a dramatic, come-from-behind victory in game five of the series and now will be the underdog against the Cleveland Indians, who won 100 games, the most in the big leagues. The Braves finished the regular season with the N.L. best record (90-54), five games better than No. 2 Cincinatti (85-59).

Last week, I picked all four division winners, but this week, it will be a little more difficulst because it's the best of seven and all four teams are playing great baseball!!

In the N.L., the Reds will try to counter the Braves' left-handed hitting (Justice, McGriff, and Jones), with left-handed starters Schourek, Smiley and Wells. Atlanta ranked second in the N.L. in homers and hit a team average of .250, 13th in the league. Look for Ron Gant to seek revenge against his old Atlanta teammates.

Cincinatti wins in seven games!

In the A.L., I would like to see the Mariners win just because they have some great players in Griffey and the Martinezes, Tino and Edgar, but the Indians have a really good team. The Indians in six games!

The 49ers (4-1) enjoyed their bye week while preparing for the Colts (3-2) next Sunday in Indianapolis. The Colts beat the Dolphins last week in Miami 27-24. The Niners' defense has been tough against the run, holding opponents to an average of 40 yards. This week, they face Marshall Faulk, who is ranked third in rushing in the AFC with 396 yards.

The Oakland Raiders (5-1) play on Monday night against John Elway and the Denver Broncos. The Raiders beat up the Seahawks last week 34-14, and are tied for the lead in the division with Kansas City. The Chiefs (5-1) beat the Chargers (3-3) on Monday night with their third overtime victory this season!!

The Sacramento Knights bounced back to win two games in a row after losing the first game 8-7 last week to the San Jose Grizzlies. The Knights won the best of three series by shutting out San Jose 4-0 on Sunday and then wrapping up the series with a 7-3 victory in Sacramento on Monday.

The Western Division champions advance to the semifinals, where they will meet the winner of the Anaheim vs. San Diego series. The next playoff game is at the Arco Arena on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 7 p.m. Ticket prices are $20, $15 and $10.

See you next week!!

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

The elimination play is declarer's best bet in many situations, but resourceful defenders can sometimes find suitable countermeasures.

For example, consider this deal where West leads a club against four hearts. Declarer sees that he must lose two spades, come what may, so the outcome rests entirely on limiting himself to one diamond loser.

Since it is obviously better to force the defenders to lead diamonds than to initiate the suit himself, South embarks on a campaign that will ultimately leave the defense no real choice but to break the diamonds for him.

After winning the first trick and drawing trumps, South cashes his remaining clubs before exiting with a spade. East takes his A-K and, in order to avoid yielding a ruff and discard, must then return a diamond.

If he makes the mistake of leading the ace, South is home free. Let's therefore assume East returns a low diamond. Declarer inserts the jack and now it is West who must make the right play to beat the contract.

If West covers with the queen, South can get home safely by winning with the king and returning a low diamond toward his ten. His only losers in that case would be two spades and a diamond.

However, West should realize that covering the jack of diamonds with the queen may hand declarer the contract. West must assume that East has the ace, as the contract is otherwise unbeatable. Once West makes this assumption, he should duck the jack.

This play finishes South, who must now lose two diamond tricks and go down one. The elimination play fails against correct defense.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

New anti-prostitution plan can't hurt, will help

Local police arrested about a half-dozen women in the last week for soliciting prostitution.

That's about an average week, lately, amid an upsurge in police "decoy" operations designed to snare the city's highly visible streetwalkers and, sometimes, their male customers.

But none of these arrests has much effect on the big picture. Those arrested will soon be back on the street, plying their trade, often on the same block as before.

Something a bit different may come from a new police initiative against prostitution in the works for a number of months. The initiative may have some pieces to it which are unproven, and other aspects which are controversial -- such as the extent to which the police should seek to humiliate those men accused of soliciting sex from the hookers.

It is also an interesting question how many of the prostitutes now on the streets can be rehabilitated from drug problems and trained for other work.

(There is a well known joke: "How many psychiatrists does it take to change a lightbulb?" Answer: "Only one, but the light bulb has to really want to change. . .")

But overall, the new police plan will certainly be more successful than other city efforts, including the community marches of previous years in which citizens would band together, carrying anti-prostitution signs, and march the street during "prime" prostitution time such as lunch hour, in an effort to "take back" the streets.

That effort was noble, but did little to inconvenience the local sex trade.

The new plan carries things to a different level, and that's what is needed to make a dent in West Sacramento's most famous industry.

Letters to the Editor

Street sweeping

Months and months ago, our City fathers told us we would get a street sweeper every other Tuesday from Old Broderick to Kegle Drive. Every other Wednesday, we would get the street sweeper from Kegle Drive to Bryte.

Well, that happened for a while, but now we are getting the sweeper every five to six weeks. When one of the neighbors reports it, the next week we get the sweeper. I live in the 1000 block on Cummins Way and when the sweeper comes by, I mark my calendar and the last time it came by was six weeks last Wednesday, August 23. The time before was five weeks.

West Sacramento on the other side of the tracks gets a sweeper every other week and Raley's landing every week. They got our taxes, but we get nothing. When this dirt and oil from the street lies in the gutter for three or four weeks, it smells like a sewer. So I would like for someone to tell me why we can't get a little better service.

Depression.

People with cancer aren't expected to heal themselves. People with diabetes can't will themselves out of needing insulin.

And yet you probably think, like millions of people do, that you or someone you know should be able to overcome another debilitating disease, depression, through sheer will and fortitude. For untold decades, it has been thought that depression is the symptom of a weak character or underlying laziness and complacency. In reality, nothing could be further from the truth.

What causes depression? According to recent medical research, depression is caused when an insufficient level of the neurotransmitter serotonin is passed through the synapses in the frontal lobe of the brain. A condition, once triggered, that can last for months, years, or even lifetimes.

We've even found that depression has a genetic link. That like other family traits, it can be passed down from generation to generation.

An inherited disease? You probably think that sounds pretty hopeless. But when it comes to depression, it's actually good news. Because it reclassifies depression as a physical disease instead of a mental illness, the difference between it being curable instead of just treatable.

While these recent discoveries should help relieve some of the stigma associated with depression, a look at history also helps. It's a well documented fact that Abraham Lincoln was depressed for most of his adolescent and adult life. Sir Winston Churchill referred to his depression as "the black dog," starting after the failure of the 1915 Dardanelles Expedition and shadowing him his entire life.

The date was January 1, 1863. It was the day of one of Abraham Lincoln's most eloquent speeches, the Emancipation Proclamation. He had succeeded in freeing millions of repressed, impoverished slaves. For anyone, the accomplishment of a lifetime. Still, Lincoln battled depression, the cloud that would follow him always.

You see, depression doesn't discriminate. Anyone can get it. And today you can find books written about admitted sufferers Mike Wallace, Joan Rivers, Dick Cavett and Kitty Dukakis just to name a few.

The reality is, there's never been a better time to be depressed. With new therapies, drug company and academic research, and ever increasing medical interest, help is available today that only 5 years ago didn't exist. Please call 1-800-717-3111 if you or someone you know needs help.

Here they are. The keys to happiness. A few of the thousands of synapses that have the power to make any given day one of the most joyous in your life or the most despairing. The difference between looking forward to a day filled with hope instead of dread. All based on whether these channels for neurotransmission can properly send certain signals to the brain.

©1993 by Scientific American Library from Molecules And Mental Illness Permission of W.H. Freeman and Co.

With this new understanding of depression, we hope you'll see that the only shame would be not calling.

Shedding some light on the topic of building permits

By Bhu Patel
Building Division Manager
City of West Sacramento

Home owners thinking about remodeling their home or adding other improvements, such as decks, spas or retaining walls, many times have a number of questions about building permits.

This article is designed to give home owners basic knowledge of when construction permits are required in the City of West Sacramento. It also answers some of the most frequently asked questions and offers tips from the City of West Sacramento Building Division.

Since each construction project is unique, we invite you to telephone the department's information line at 373-5822, for answers to your specific questions.

What are permits and why do I need one?

Permits are the way the City of West Sacramento regulates construction. This regulation is designed to ensure that all construction in the city is safe. The safety of the occupants of buildings is the primary reason for having construction codes. The City has adopted several codes, among them the Uniform Building, Mechanical and Plumbing and National Electric codes. In addition, there are federal, state and local laws that govern construction, such as those covering energy conservation.

There are several different types of permits, based on the type of construction: structural, plumbing, mechanical and combination, which is used to single-family home construction and other small projects. Most home owner projects require a combination permit. In addition, the complete demolition of buildings also requires permits.

Obtaining the permit is just the first step in the process. In this step, you may need to create plans to be submitted to the department, make a plot plan for your property showing the improvements, and show the type of construction you'll be using.

The Building Division has handouts to help you through this process.

Once the plans are approved, you're required to build the project to those plants. If any changes are made to the plans, they must be made with the department's approval.

The second half of the process is the inspection of the work. More about that later.

When do I need a construction permit?

A construction permit is needed for almost all new construction. In many cases a permit is needed for repair or replacement of existing features, such as changing windows. A plumbing, electrical or mechanical permit is required for any additions or changes to the structure's existing system; for example, moving or adding an electrical outlet requires a permit.

To determine whether your project needs a permit, call us at 373-5822.

When don't I need a permit?

A construction permit is not required for items such as wallpapering, painting or similar finish work; fences six feet high or lower; platforms and walks 30 inches high or less over grade or not over a basement; and in several other cases. However, approvals may be required by the Zoning, Planning Division or other agencies; check before building.

For plumbing, mechanical and electrical work, replacement or repair of fixtures (such as changing water faucets or replacing switches) does not normally require a permit. Replacing a water heater or installing a garden sprinkler system does, however, require a permit.

To determine whether your project needs a permit, call 373-5822. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays.

Where do I get a permit?

Construction permits are issued by the Building Division, located at 1951 S. River Road.

How long does it take to get a permit?

Permit issuance periods vary. Some permits can be issued over-the-counter, meaning return trips will not be necessary. Some projects require that plans be left for additional review.

What about zoning?

Zoning sets up, within a defined area, the physical standards (such as setbacks and paving) and uses that are allowed.

Zoning is regulated by the city's Planning Division, based on maps approved by the City Council. A variance may be obtained in some unique cases if a property owner cannot meet the physical standards of the zone.

In addition, some zoning questions can be answered by the Building Division staff at the time of permit application and/or plan submittal.

There are also special zones within the city, such as planned developments. The Planning Division can answer questions about these areas.

The Planning Division is located at 1951 S. River Road. The telephone number is 373-5854.

What about other approvals or permits?

Other city or government agencies may need to review and approve your project. The Building Division will inform you of these approvals at the time plans are submitted.

What if I don't get a permit?

If a permit, when required, is not obtained prior to construction, you are in violation of City of West Sacramento codes and regulations and will be subject to additional investigation fees. You'll be required to obtain permits for the work and it must pass inspection.

Remember...construction codes were created for safety reasons. Work built without permits can be unsafe, no matter how good it looks. In addition, work done without permits may void your insurance and cause problems when you sell.

The City of West Sacramento has a code enforcement section that reviews suspected building code violations. The number for code enforcement is 373-5854.

What if I obtained a permit but never had inspections?

Generally, permits expire after 180 days if no inspections have been made. In order for the project to be complete, it must be inspected. If a permit expires before the final inspection is made, the project is in violation of City codes.

Who should obtain the permit?

Contractors licensed by the State of California or agents can obtain permits. The home owner can also obtain the construction permits.

Can I do the work myself or do I have to hire a contractor?

Property owners can do the work themselves, but they must follow certain regulations. Among them:

Workers' Compensation: If you will be hiring anyone, you may have to have Workers' Compensation insurance. This insurance is available from many agencies. If you won't be hiring anyone, we'll ask you to sign an "Owner-Builder Statement" indicating this.

Build to the plans: Be sure to follow your approved plans, whether they are drawn by an architect or are standard construction requirements given to you by the Building Division. If you deviate from the approved plans, this will cause problems when the project is inspected.

Who draws up the plans?

Plans for projects such as room additions can usually be drawn up by a qualified individual such as a draftsman. Other projects may require plans signed by a licensed architect or engineer.

So was I. Overweight, suffering from chronic fatigue, experiencing hair loss, anxiety resulting in heart palpitations, and poor diet attached to a high stress work environment, blah, blah, blah. . . (Sound familiar?)

Well, today I have lost over 50 lbs., I weigh what I did as a high school junior nearly 18 years ago, the hair loss has stopped, the heart problems have ceased, my diet has greatly improved, and I no longer experience the high stress in virtually the same line of business.

This may not work for everyone, but if you want to know how to get off the track to a short life-span and one that may add years to a more productive and healthier life, simply call (800) 836-9180. I will send you a free tape, and personally return your call.

'Wild Kingdom' at homecoming

By Tony Venditti
Student Commissioner or Publicity
River City High School

Coming in October is the famed Homecoming activities of River City High School, which include the following:

The theme: "Wild Kingdom!"

Spirit Week: The Freshman will begin the week's festivities on Monday with their morning cheers and decorations in the quad. Tuesday will be the Sophomores' day to cheer and decorate. The Juniors will take their turn on Wednesday, and Thursday will feature the Seniors. On Friday, the classes will unite and cheer together in hopes of winning the Homecoming game that night against Colfax. On Homecoming Day, both lunches will be combined so that everybody will be able to socialize with each other while 93 Rock is on campus.

The floats: The floats (which, I might add, are coming along quite well), will be on display for the first time on October 20, during half-time of the Varsity game, where they will be judged for spirit points, and during the Community Day parade on October 22.

The royalty candidates: Homecoming royalty candidates have to pass several levels of qualifications consisting of nominations from other classmates, a grade and attendance check, filling out a Royalty application, and finally, three carefully selected teachers make the final decision of who the three candidates will be. The candidates will be introduced to the community during half-time of the Varsity game. The positions of Senior King and Queen, Junior Prince and Princess, Sophomore Duke and Duchess, and Freshman Count and Countess, will be filled at 10 p.m., at the Homecoming dance.

The dance: This year's Homecoming dance will be on a Saturday for the first time, so all the students (including the football players and cheerleaders) can participate for the entire dance. The dance will be in River City's gym on October 21, between 8:30 and 11:30 p.m.

The Grand Marshals: Grand Marshals will be chosen by River City's own leadership class in the first week of October. The Grand Marshal's duty is to lead the parade of floats and candidates around the track on the night of Homecoming. We hope West Sacramento's own Fire Department will provide the use of a fire engine for our Grand Marshals.

The penny drive: The penny drive, which was won last year for the first time in 10 years by the Freshmen, will be under way two weeks before Homecoming. Classes are greatly encouraged to donate pennies to respective buckets in the office, for class competition.

Homecoming is a time when all alumni from our fair school are very encouraged to "come home" to the school and enjoy some of our Homecoming activities. A special reminder to all alumni that admission for the game is half-price when you show alumni proof (a class ring, yearbook, school jacket, student body card, or any other item of the like will suffice).

TRUCKING

city staff amenable to the idea of easing up on the restrictions.

"The trucking industry is a huge part of the economy of West Sacramento. We in the industry are certainly pleased that the city has agreed to review, and are cognizant of our problem," said Jim Devine, president of Jay Dee Trucking.

A staff report provided for the planning commission in August concurs with Devine's statement. "The trucking industry is important to the city's economy. Seventeen percent of the city's sales taxes were generated by the trucking industry. This figure, however, does not include sales taxes generated by truck-related businesses," the report said.

The portion of the plan which limits trucking facilities does so, ironically, with the stated intention of providing land and support for "light, heavy, and water-related industrial uses that create jobs and enhance the economy of West Sacramento.

It the city changes the General Plan, it will be the third change in the four years since its adoption in May 1990.

PERMITS

from p. 6

For projects such as routine patio covers or carports, the City has standard handouts that can be followed, within certain limitations. Those specifications, together with a plot plan showing the project, are accepted by the department as the plans.

In addition, some kit-type projects come with construction plans. When you apply for permits, bring the instruction sheet along -- it can serve as plans.

What about a contractor?

The City recommends you deal only with a contractor licensed by the State of California. The State Contractor's Licensing Board's telephone number is 455-0237.

What about inspections?

It is the responsibility of the permit holder or contractor to call us for inspections at specific times during construction. Inspections are made during certain points in the project, depending on the type of project. For example, retaining walls require inspections of the footing, after block is laid and steel placed, and when the project is complete.

Remember the project is not complete for legal purposes until it has passed final inspection.

Should you have any further questions, please call us at 373-5822. Building Division has a 24-hour inspection request recorder. You can call 371-2708 to request an inspection for the next day.

Victorino Rodarte was held to answer in the Superior Court last Wednesday by Judge Barry on a charge of burglary. He was caught leaving Bill Campbell's cabin with Bills earthly possessions and was arested by Joe Beltrami. A companion of Rodarte made his escape and has not been captured. Rodarte told the court he had been smoking some sort of Mexican dope weed, and did not know what he was about at the time of his arrest. While being pursued by the officers, he threw away a can of the weed, which was picked up later. He said he threw it away because he believed if it was found in his possession he would be sent to jail.

CEBRIAN MAKES VALUABLE GIFT TO STATE UNIVERSITY

Announcement has been made by the State University authorities that Mr. Juan C. Cebrian, owner of the Caledonian Farms in West Sacramento, now traveling in Spain, presented to the Regents 728 volumes of Spanish works, many of which complete several sets of periodicals now in the University library.

The list comprises more than 100 volumes on science, among which there is a treatise on agriculture of the twelfth century. There are also works on general literature, history, heraldry, and art, and twelve volumes on Spanish music of the sixteenth and eighteenth centuries, as well as seven volumes of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in their original bindings, and one of colored facsimilies of old manuscripts from the eleventh to the sixteenth canturies.

Harrison of Woodland to pay a fine of $500 with a suspended sentence of 60 days in the county jail for selling some wine to Constable Ike Clover of Woodland, and a hired detective.

That evening or rather the following morning at 2 a. m., Judge R. W. Harrison of the sanctimonious and puritanical town of Woodland was arrested for playing craps in the Burns Hotel and two days later paid $100 fine for the offense after pleading "guilty."

The judge, mind you, pleaded guilty of gambling.

Guilty of breaking a State law.

And it was that same judge who on the same day fined the poor mother of seven children $500 for selling some wine to two men who posed as cattle buyers or exhibitors at the State Fair.

INDIGNANT HOME-OWNERS MAKE LOUD PROTEST AGAINST DAMAGING PUBLICITY

When the Sacramento Star posted large placards on the dead walls of Sacramento and Washington yesterday announcing the publication of a serial story on the "Jungles of Yolo," loud protests could be heard on all sides from the home owners and taxpayers of Washington.

Indeed, it was well that no representative of the Star happened to be around, for, Lord knows, what would have happened to him.

The placard measuring about 2¼ by 5 feet announced:

JUNGLES OF YOLO

Where thousands of "gay cats," "blanket stiffs" and other hobo types, together with idle workmen "beating their way" in search of a job, spend a night or two on their way in or out of Sacramento.

"The Jungles" is the latest and best story by Reporter Fred V. Williams of the Star. A thrilling adventure story of hobo life, etc.

Many decent, clean and respectable families make their homes in Washington., They resent any such announcements, especially those concerning "gay cats" and "blanket stiffs" and call attention to the nests of "gay cats" that have lately been raided by the police of the Capitol City, even in the business and residence sections of Sacramento.

No matter how clever the story written by Fred V. Williams may be there is a home pride in every family in Washington that must not be dragged in the mire and while the story may not be bad in itself the method of announcing its publication is bordering on an insult, if not absolutely insulting.

The newspapers of Sacramento should say nothing about the "gay cats" of any other community. Christ did not chastise the prostitute nor did her accusers throw rocks at her.

"Blanket stiffs" sometimes have money and many a dollar goes out of the "jungles of Yolo" to the merchants of Sacramento.

As said above, the story may be good, but its method of announcement is bad. Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones.

GREAT DAMAGE TO ROADS DONE BY TRUCKMEN

On complaint of many farmers in the Clarksburg district, Supervisor Leinberger has taken action to prevent further damage to the county roads in that district.

After he had spent a big sum to build a new oil and crushed rock road in the Clarksburg district, four outside truckmen, according to the officers, completely wrecked the road by hauling overloads. Aroused by a complaint from farmers, the alert Motor Officer Elmer B. Cook slipped down to Clarksburg last Friday and arrested four of the alleged law violators. Cook said that they were each carrying two tons more than the weight allowed by the law.

Officer Cook learned that when the road was first completed, it was as smooth as a paved highway and solid. The trucks could make as fast as 30 miles an hour over it. Friday Cook could not ride his motorcycle over the road faster than 6 miles an hour. "The roadbed is cut to ribbons," said Cook.

Lately more than $3000 had been spent by the county in putting the road in good shape.

The speed cop declared that had he been notified sooner he would have caught the truckmen with greater loads, as the road became so cut up that they had to lighten their cargo. The road is 1 3-4 miles in length. "None of the truckmen ordered into court pay taxes into the county treasury, and all of them have been making big profits hauling sugar beets from Clarksburg," said Officer Cook.

Justice of the Peace George Colby will mete out the sentences. Sentiment against the defendants is strong. The names of the alleged truck law violators follow:

Overloaded trucks—C. A. Carbine of Oakland, F. Anderson of Lower Lake, G. M. Lawrence of San Francisco, Paul E. Burg of Oakland.

The road through West Sacramento is also in terible shape at this writing, scarcely passable for autos or light vehicles.

Nearly all the damage there, too, has been done by truckmen hauling beets to Jefferson station on the Sacramento Short Line.

But the beets must be hauled or left to rot, and the only practical way out seems to be to build better roads.

Retail butchers should not be blamed entirely for the high prices of meats.

They claim they can sell only 17 per cent of each carcass, for house wives only want the best.

In Louisville, Ken., last Sunday the Ku Klux Klan was prevented from holding a meeting by the police.

If that kind of thing keeps up the Klu Klux Klan boys will be martyrs.

NAZAROFF CHILDREN TAKEN FROM FATHER BY JUVENILE COURT

At a night session of the Juvenile Court in Woodland last Monday evening Alice Nazaroff and her 4-year-old brother were taken from the custody of their father after request had been made by the young girl that her father be removed as her custodian.

A week ago she appealed to Constable Buckingham for protection, who placed her with a neighbor, Mrs. Evanoff. Here, too, the girl claimed her father annoyed her and it was then that she appealed to the Juvenile Court of her own volition. When the case was brought before the court Assistant District Attorney John H. Laugenour, who had been investigating the case for several days, learned that the girl was being mistreated. The matter came to a climax when between the hours of 6 and 7 o'clock father and children met in court.

The little girl, of more than ordinary sweetness, strenuously objected to further live with her father, a Russian, who fought for her tiny brother, that he too might be taken away from the turbulent home. During the court proceedings the father went over toward his little son, and it was then that the small girl appealed to the court to save her brother from his parent. She fought with her father openly over the custody of the child, who asked to be permitted to go with his sister, whatever her fate might be.

Judge Anderson took full cognizance of the situation, and although the custody of the boy was not before him in particular, awarded him to the custody of the probation authorities, leaving the irate father childless and absolutely alone. Laugenour stated that the lack of a few links of evidence is all that saves the father from a serious prosecution.

Last Tuesday Judge Anderson made an order committing both children to the Home at Grass Valley

WILKES' PLAYERS ARE ENTITLED TO SUPPORT OF THE PEOPLE

The Wilkes players have created a furore at the Wilkes Theatre, formerly People's, where they are this week presenting the big mystery play, "A Voice in the Dark," to be followed Sunday matinee, Sept. 25th, with a magnificent production of the comedy of youth, "Smilin Through," which has proved the biggest success in recent years. The Wilkes Players are without a doubt the finest organization that has ever appeared in Sacramento and are entitled to the support of the amusement going public.

SEVERAL NEW HOMES UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN WASHINGTON

Since a settlement of building troubles has been arrived at several new homes have been started in Washington, Riverbank and West Sacramento.

Peter Ghelfi has remodeled his home at 4th and William Streets at a cost of over $2000, and has just moved into the finished premises.

Across 4th street another new home is under construction and will be occupied in about two weeks.

On William street the property and home of W. T. Austin has been sold to parties who contemplate building several cottages for rent. The Austin family having moved to Sacramento.

On Fourth street, between Anne and Harriett, the Fourness property has been sold and another home on an adjoining lot is being built.

Several homes are being built in Riverbank and several lots have lately changed hands, indicating an activity not seen for more than a year or since building conditions were unsettled.

All bungalows built by the West Sacramento Co. at neadquarters have been sold to home owners. These are taking active interest in promoting sales of other lots to their friends.

West Capitol land acquired

By Steve Marschke

The West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency has taken title to three West Capitol Ave. parcels it plans to raze, while litigation continues over the price the agency will have to compensate private owners for the land.

The properties include the former Broderick Market, located at West Capitol and 4th Street near the Tower Bridge, and two pieces of land on its west side.

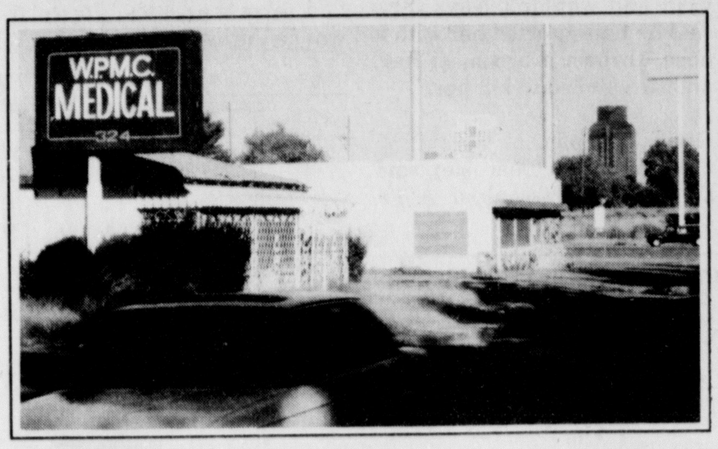

The agency intends to clear the land in order to "remove blight," said West Sacramento City Council member Wes Beers.

The property, which agency officials said was attracting drug activity and other problems, included a former church and a former clinic.

"The Broderick Market (tenant) took a cash settlement and closed. The church moved to Merkley Ave.," reported Beers.

The clinic was vacant at the time the city took possession.

Beers explained that the agency had exercised "eminent domain" proceedings to acquire the property, since the owners did not agree on a selling price.

A vacant clinic, along with the former church behind it and the former Broderick Market beyond them both, have both been acquired by the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency. The move is partly an effort to remove neighborhood "blight" and encourage developments such as the "Raley's Landing" project just eastwards (in background). The tall buildings are part of Sacramento's downtown across the river.

The agency deposited an amount equal to its appraised value of the land as a prelude to taking title.

Meanwhile, all three owners are contesting the sale price, said Beers.

Dollar figures for the sales and other details were not immediately available.

The agency has put the job of clearing the parcels out to bid.
